THE DEAD PRINCE.

ARRANGEMENTS FOR THE RE-CEPTION OF THE BODY.

Royal Funeral .-- List of Mourners. Crowd of One Hundred Thousand Visitors Expected.

LONDON. July 10 .- Official arrangements have been completed for the reception of the remains of the Prince Imperial on Friday and their conveyance to Chiselhurst, escorted by the Royal horse artillery, the whole distance to be traversed at walking pace. The procession reaching Camden House at about 8 o'clock. The whole Woolwich garrison will proceed separately to Chiselhurst to participate. The funeral bells will be tolled as the corpse leaves Woolwich. On arriving at Camden House the coffin will be carried into the hall where the body of the late Emperor lay in state, by the officers of the artillery. The hall will be draped in white. The corpse will remain until 11 o'clock, during which time mass will be performed over it in the presence of a select party, by Father Goddard, chaplain to the Empress. when officers will replace the corpse on the gun carriage, and the procession will then be formed, consisting of the first class cadets of the military academy with reversed arms, mounted band of artillery and then the coffin. The mourners are expected to include the Prince of Wales, the Duke of Connaught and the Duke of Cambridge. besides numerous French notabilities. such as M. Rouher. The church of St. Mary is distant only one-half mile from the house, but the procession will follow a devious route to avoid declivities. It is expected that there will be a crowd of 100,000 spectators present. The Fifth lancers will keep up the route. Three batteries of artillery on the common will fire minute guns during the pro-consist of a short mass, and will probably be concluded by noon.

Three chairs used by the imperial family have been placed inside the altar rail. Ex-Empress Eugenie will occupy her chair. Members of the Bonaparte family, present, will be stationed outside of the altar and the members of the household in front, The pavilion on deck of the Enchantress has been are already waiting at Chiselhurst to attend the funeral: The Duke and Duchess of Mouchy, Prince Murat, M. YELLOW FEVER.

The Yellow Fever at Memphis A Well-kept Secret.

MEMPHIS, July 10 .- The Board of Health this morning issued the following order to the people of the city of

"We would say, quietly, remove your families to a place of safety until we can at least see whether the few cases of yellow fever will assume an epidemic form. To the people along the lines of different routes of travel we say there can be no possible danger of infection for many days to come.' Five new cases were reported this morning and one death, an infant of Judge J. E. R. Ray, of the Criminal Court, who, together with another son. is prostrated with the disease. A perfeet stampede of citizens is in progress, the trains being unable to carry away hundreds who are ready to leave. LATER .- At this hour, 20'clock, p. m., there has been no change in the situa-tion. The great desire of every one is to leave the city before the fever spreads. The physicians are cheerful as to the future, but the stampede of citizens has almost assumed a panic form. There will not be cars enough to-night to carry the people away. Business is progressing as usual, but only to a limited extent.

Cotton Crop Report.

SAVANNAH, Ga., July 10,-The Cotton Exchange reports for June give the following: Georgia-102 replies from 56 counties. The weather since the first of June has been too dry, with nights too cool, and not as favorable for the plant as last year. There has been little or no change in the area. The condition of the plant is good and clear of grass. It is small and needing rain, but is blooming and fruiting well. The stands are good. There is some com-plaint of injury occurring while clear ng grass after the wet spell during the first part of May. As compared with last year the prospect is not so promising for the former. Owing to the cool nights the plant has been troubled with lice, and owing to the late season in getting the plant under way and the dry weather it looks small. From Southern Georgia there are several complaints of caterpillars. FLORIDA.

Replies from thirteen counties since the first of June, state that the weather has been seasonable, with the exception of two cool nights, but not so favorable for the development of the cotton plant as last year. The area devoted to cotton remains the same as the last report. The stands are good, and the plant is blooming and forming well. The present condition of the plant is good though small, and as compared with last year, is backward and not as promising on account of the various drawbacks-first, too much rain, then lice and now the want of rain. Caterpillars are reported in several counties, but no injury therefrom as yet. In the Sea Island section the prospect of the farmer is more cheering in every respect than last year, which was bad throughout. The stands are reported to be in good condition, and the plant is blooming and forming well.

European Crop Prospects. London, July 10.—John Joseph Mechi, a noted scientific agriculturist, writes to the Times as follows: "Another week of flooding storms and low temperature has put a finishing stroke to the agricultural disaster. It is now is simply ruinous. Wheat will suffer less than the spring crops. Weeding is hopeless, and unless we get the promised hot dry weather many grass and clover crops, and even peas will rot un-

olina.

Philadelphia Record, Although hardly a pivotal State, North Carolina is a factor of some in-terest in the problem of national poli-tics. In the gubernatorial election of 1872 it was doubtful for several weeks after the polls were closed which way the State had gone. The great journals of the country had correspondents there patiently awaiting the result. At length it was ascertained that the Republican nominee, Caldwell, had about 2,000 majority over Merrimon, the Democratic candidate. That was in August. In the following November the Grant electoral ticket was some thing like 20,000 votes ahead. In 1876, the State and Presidential elections came off on the same day, and it was a matter of grave doubt, until the actual count of the ballots, whether Vance or Settle was the winning man in the race for the governorship. In their contest the tar-heel Republicans made their supreme effort, while the Democracy united with unexampled enthusiasm in a desperate endeavor to redeem the Commonwealth, and the canvass was characterized by extraordinary vigor on either side. The State went for Tilden and Handricks by 17,000 without the aid of bulldozing, tissue ballots or Returning-board manipulations. It was a great victory for the Democracy, and it was fairly one.

The defection of North Carolin from the Republican column three years ago made the solid South complete all along the line. Since that time the North Carolina Republicans have lost heart, and have parely maintained the semblance of a party organization. The defeat of their idoi, Judge Settle, was an overwheiming blow, from which they have never rallied. The bitterness of the disaster was by no means compensated by the final counting in of Hayes as President. Indeed, they experienced in Hayes himself the worst disappointment their expectations ever met Going to Washington in quest of the consolation of office, they found that 'fire-tried loyalty" and stalwart partisanship were rather hindrances than helps; for only such of them received appointments as could obtain Democratic indorsements of their claims. The disgust was general. The chairman of their State Executive Committee, an adroit carpetbagger from Wisconsin, finding his recommendations treated with contumely, headed the wide-spread desertion from the Administration and spiked his guns. Having entire control of the party organization in the State, he gently laid it on the shelf, and has since then sat moodily, fike Achilles in his tent, letting the elections go Democratic by delault, cursing Hayes and dreaming fondly of the better days of Grant. The Administration faction in North Carolina is confined entirely to the Republican officeholders and their dependents, and it does not embrace all even of these patriots. Out of the one nundred and odd thousand men in North Carolina who voted for Hayes in the Centennial year, he has not now probably more than a hundred adhereifts. The great mass of the Republicans down there regard his term as a sort of interregnum. They look ea-gerly for the day when Grant shall come to his own again. The negroes are unanimous for Grant. The desolate carpetbaggers, what there are left of them, pray without ceasing for the return of him who was their stout and steadfast friend. These gentry have no use for Hayes, because Hayes has no use for them. The movement in favor of a renewal and if possible a perpetuation, of the Grant uynasty has its most active and earnest promoters in the Southern states, and in none more than in North Caronna. 'The eight years' regime of wassail and plunder, when the bold soldier ruled the roast and dispensed henchmen around his board, is looked back to with the regretful longing with which the Bonapartist reverts to the glories of the First Empire. Until very recently no other name has had any mention among the North Carolina Republicans in connection with the next Presidency. What the lately inaugurated Sherman boom will amount to in that State a year from now it is impossible to forecast. It has been already said the first choice of the Republicans there is Grant; and, with a fair prospect of his nomination by the National Convention and of his acceptance, nobody else would have any substantial followers among them.

Of those who are for Grant first, last and all the time, so long as there is any show for getting him back into the White House, may be named Colonel Themas B. Keogh, chairman of the Republican State Committee and head center of what is known as the "Greensboro Ring;" Hon. Thomas Settle, president of the Philadelphia Convention which nominated Grant for his second term, who, though a Uni ed States District Judge in Florida, still exercises a good deal of influence in the councils of his party in North Carolina. Mr. Albion W. Tourgee, late a carpet-bag Superior Court Judge, and Mr. Robert M. Douglas, a son of the great Illinois Senator, and for a while private secretary to General Grant. On the other hand, ex-Governor W. W. Holden, now Postmaster at Raleigh; ex-United States Senator John Pool, United States Solicitor General Stephen F. Phillips, Hon. Oliver H. Dockery, of Rockingham; United States District Attorney Albertson, and Hon. Kenneth Rayner, an old Whig leader, now Solicitor of the United States Treasury, are said to be inclined favorably to the Sherman movement, provided it bids fair to be successful. It is probable, however, notwith-standing all the preliminary wire-pulling between now and next summer, that the North Carolina delegation will attend the next Republican National Convention, as they did the last, entirely uninstructed and at liberty to make any combinations or trades they please. The Southern State Republican organizations are, in fact, a series too late for the crops to recover. They are considerably injured, even on well farmed and drained lands, while on ill farmed and undrained lands the matter of rotten boroughs, without power to reliable, and stated that the law requiring keeping of "books of account showing form whom the cotton was received, lecting a Presidential candidate.

YEARS OF FRAUD. A STARTLING EXPOSURE OF COR-RUPTION IN THE TREASURY.

Gigantic Frauds Uncarthed by the Committee Millions of the Public Funds Stolen and Squandered.

Before the Glover Committee Talbot swore that he never sent such a telegram, but the committee obtained a copy of it, with his signature! This dispatch stopped Gilfillan. Tal-bot allowed Williams to be examined without arrest by a United States Com-missioner of Williams' choosing. Neither Moore, Gilfillan not any other person who knew the facts, was notified of this "examination," or allowed to testify; only-witnesses friendly to him were examined, and he was discharged. When Middleton & Co. were selected. Middleton & Co., were asked to refund the sums wrongfully paid to them on Williams' fraudulent account, the let-ter addressed them at Washington was answered by Williams from London. Talbot made a whitewashing report to Secretary Sherman, devoted mainly to exculpating Couant, against whom no charges had been laid before him; but charges had been laid before nim; out Sherman deemed it policy for Conant to retire; he was sent to London to keep Bigelow company, and the foreign loan operations of the Government have since been conducted by men who successfully did their best to shield a conessed forger and swindler, who with the aid of Treasury confederates stole the money that belonged to widows, lunatics, orphans and foreigners. The forged signatures were unlike the true ones, and Williams' confederate, Interest Teller Jones, made no comparison or test of their reality, violating thus the rules of the office. All these officials but one, Baker, are still in office. and Porter has been made Financial Clerk of the Coast Survey while Wyman and his bondsmen have been freed from responsibility. The sole punishment meted out was that to Supervising Special Agent More, the one man who persistently tried to expose the wrong, and who was reduced to a subordinate post.

RAYNER'S ABORTIVE EFFORT AT HONEST ADMINISTRATION OF THE SECRET

SERVICE. Solicitor Rayner being resolved to exercise his power of the Secret Service, and to make honest ruling in Treasury law matters, the Treasury Ring were anxious to get rid of him. The Secret Service wanted Assistant Solicitor Robinson in Rayner's place, and laid a plot to work the latter's removal. Benson employed Britt to go to ex-Gov. Gibbs, who represented the surety of Edward B. Taylor, a deceased Indian agent, and try to get him to induce Rayner to write a letter to the District Attorney of Nebraska, demanding the acceptance of a compromise of a claim of $11,000 for $185.50. Britt offered if this letter was written to take it to the District Attor-ney at Omaha himself. Had it been written, however, it was to be shown to Secretary Sherman to secure Rayner's removal.

THE SECRET SERVICE IS A VEHICLE FOR BLACK-MAILING PURPOSES. The report states that the Secret Service appears to have been used largely for blackmailing purposes and perse-cution of private individuals, and that men are employed in it without any test of qualification, provided they have what seems to be information against persons; and that persons of character and reputation who have felt the force of its methods have as a rule declined to put their grievances before the committee, preferring rather to suffer in silence than to encounter the plots they felt sure would follow their complaints. Solicitor Rayner testified: "Within eight months I know of eight or ten private gentlemen, who have violated no law, whose names have been entered there, and they have been reported on in the most terrible way." Wild, the Secret Service agent at New Orleans, was dismissed from the Department of Justice for taking money from claimants in a case he officially examined. The contract made by him with the claimants, and the check paid to him, are in the Department of Justice records Yet he is now engaged to "protect" the Government and the public against counterfeiters and swindlers in several States.

WHOLESALE ROBBERY IN THE SOUTH-THE GREAT COTTON SEIZURES.

In 1862 Congress provided for Treas ury special agents collecting captured and abandoned property at the South, and for turning into the Treasury the proceeds of such property, to be re-turned to the owners on proof before the Court of Claims of ownership and freedom from complicity with the Rebellion. Under this act 175,000 bales of cotton were collected and sold, the proceeds being, as nearly as could be ascertained, $36,500,000. Of this, $9,310,787 were eaten up in "expenses," leaving over $27,000,000. Of this, $9,545,000 have been returned to owners under judgments of the Court of Claims, $1,623,000 by the Secretary of the Treasury, $292,-000 under special acts of Congress and $188,000 under the act of May 18, 1872— in all, $11,648,000. This should leave on hand over $15,500,000, but the report of the Secretary of the Treasury shows but about $9,000,000 on hand. What has become of the other six and a half millions the committee could not

This great raid and seizure of 175,000 bales of cotton, however, was not the whole spoliation, Contrary to law, thousands and thousands of bales were seized by quartermasters and other army officers and sold, the proceeds never reaching the Treasury. In one year—May, 1863, to May, 1864—the Chief Quartermaster at New Orleans. Col. S. B. Holabird, received 12,775 bales worth at least $2,500,000, yet he only acknowledged $334,000 net proceeds and states that this sum was spent for army purposes by order of Gen

Also contrary to law, Admiral Porter while patrolling the Mississippi and its tributaries, seized large amounts of cot-ton on land and shipped it to Cairo as maritime prize of war. The Supreme Court has decided that this cotton was unlawfully taken by Porter, yet the Treasury refuses to return the money

When the committee on the Treasury called in 1876 for the production of the original records of cotton seizures, Cabinet meeting was held and an executive order was issued by Grant forbid ding the production of original books and papers before committees of Con-

The law placing cotton matters in the customs division of the office of the Secretary of the Treasury has been disregarded and a special bureau formed without authority of law with a chief and assistant and clerks, and with salaries from $1,200 to $3,000 a year. The duty of Martin Luther Noerr, chief, is to furnish the Court of Claims true copies of all records in that bureau pertaining to particular lots of cotton. Judge Nott of that court stated from the bench that Noerr had furnished four different reports of captures of cotton at Atlanta; the first report admitting the capture of but twenty bales, but the last admitting 467! He declared that the Cotton Bureau's statements as made up by Noerr were wholly unreliable, and stated that the law requir-

of sale," had been flagitiously and scan-dalously evaded and defied by officers intrusted with its execution. Noerr reported to the Court that there were reported to the Court that there were in the Treasury the records of about 640 bales from Vicksburg, not over $130,000. Mr. Eveleth, Commissioner appointed by the Court to examine the cotton records, found that over 5,000 bales had been seized at Vicksburg, and that the proceeds had gone into the Treasury, $925,000. Chief Justice Casey of the Court of Claims swore that Noerr showed no disposition to correct his statement, and that he had tried in vain to get Noerr to explain this great discrepancy. The Chief Justice also testified that it was "impossible for claimants or their friends to get any information or satisfaction at all in reference to their claims from this division, except through calls by the vision, except through calls by the Court of Claims, the answers to which both the Bar and the Court regarded as wholly unreliable. In my judgment they (Noerr's reports) were in many cases intended and designed to mislead and to prevent parties from getting

STARTLING DEFICITS AT THE MINTS. At the San Francisco Mint there was a deficiency of $235,000 in the Melter and Refiner's Office in 1856—a great discrepancy between the Treasurer's and the coiner's accounts in 1866, and large losses in 1870. large losses in 1870. The Superintendent was dismissed for corrupt practices in 1877. Losses were also discovered in 1870 at the Denver Mint and the New York Assay Office. The New York accounts were passed by the Auditor's and Comptroller's offices of the Treasury without proper examina-tion of the vouchers, which were paid by the New York Assistant Treasurer without the approval of the officers who should have received the supplies. Up to 1879 the Director seemed never to have examined the New York Assay

Office, and the mint regulations were hard to find there. The report of the Director of the Mint for 1877 says (in tables prepared by Martin V. Davis of Philadelphia) that the gold coinage un-der Director Linderman, 1874-7 inclusive, was $156,000,000, and greater than that of any previous four years. This was untrue. The coinage of 1874-7 was $166,000,000 ($10,000,000 more), and that for 1851-4 inclusive was $190,000,000, or $24,000,000 more. The Director also fell into this error of $10,000,000, and understated by this sum the total gold coinage of the mints. He also understated the gold coinage 1851-4 by $1,600,000. He stated the total 1852-8 inclusive at $233,000,000 but his subordinate, Mr. Davis, stated it in the same report, for the Philadelphia and San Francisco mints alone, at $247,000,000, over $13,-000,000 more. Thus according to official figures two of the mints coined $13,000,000 more than the whole five! The San Francisco melter and refiner's returns of bullion above the amounts charged as delivered to him, $36.000, 1854-77, is credited to that mint twice in the same report, thus making the mint expenses appear $36,000 less than the

The New York Assay Office smelter and refiner, Mason, by great care and skill saved and turned into the Treasury in 1876-8 $64,000 more than the bullion delivered him for treatment was These returns were supcharged at. pressed from the Director's reports, being lumped with earnings, and Mr. Mason was instructed to return them as such, the motive announced in the in structions being to shield the mints from annoying inquiries as to why they, instead of returning a surplus like Mr. Mason they charged to Government with a waste. Thus Mr. Ma-son was denied the credit he richly deserved, and was in one report made to appear as wasting $9,000, in order to hide the mismanagement of others. The letter ordering this suppression was signed as Acting Director of the Mint by Robert E Preston, who figures unpleasantly elsewhere in connection with cotton accounts. In 1876 Congress cut down the appropriations asked by the Director over $300,000, but Linderman contrive to smuggle in a proviso allowing the earnings from separating gold from silver, and from refining both, to be used in melting expenses without going into the Treasury. The result is that, every year ince, the earnings have been spent in addition to the sums allowed by Congress, and $300,000 yearly have been expended without Congress suspecting

A COOL $100,000,000 POCKETED BY LIN-DERMAN AND HIS ASSOCIATES. January, 1875, the Bonanza's stocks, under the effect of wild reports about the mines, were very high in price. Consolidated Virginia reached Linderman's $25,000 worth of stock was worth once $200,000. But it fell by October to 210, and California, the other part of the Bonanza to 250. So it was bulled again. In the summer of that year Linderman visited California on official business, sought a conference with the managers of the mines, and arranged an inspection of them. He and Prof. Rogers then, or soon after, a holder of $20,000 or more stock in these mines, inspected them twice. Rogers made a report valuing them at $300,000,-000, which, Linderman, saying that ther estimates were too high, concurred in and published in his annual report for 1875. This widely circulated, and jumped Consolidated Virginia to 435 and California to 375. The rise carried Linderman's stock up to $120,000, and his official representations, held the stock up to 180 per original share to the end of 1876, and to 115 till the end of 1877. The mines only produced about a sixth of the amount represented, and the stock fell in value to about $15,000,-000, according to the Statistician of the United States Monetary Commission. The maintenance of the stock at high prices enabled the owners to sell stock enough to realize about $125,000,000, which the first sellers pocketed by Linderman's aid. This spread misfortune and distress throughout the Pacific coast. A SECRETISSUE OF NINETEEN MILLIONS. A brief inspection of the Treasurer's books revealed the fact that $19,000,000 of notes were at one time secretly afloat ments being false during that time to that extent; and the fact of that secret issue remained unknown till lighted on by the Glover committee. The books were falsified, and a balance forced to conceal this secret issue, by untruly stating that $19,000,000 had been denosited as temporary loan, when no such deposit took place.

From 1867 to 1873, while the amount of greenbacks authorized by law was $256,000,000, the Treasurer's books revealed the fact that repeatedly the amount afloat was $2,000,000 above the authorized amount in the middle of the month, enough being turned over for destruction on the last day of the month to bring the total down to $356,000,000, and in other months the circulation was cut down as much as $12,000,000 be low the published figures in the middle of the month, enough being taken from the unissued notes on hand the last day to make up the sum to the sum to the lawful figure on statement day.

APPLETON OAKSMITH.

AN OLD-TIME CZLEBRITY AGAIN ON THE SURFACE.

Notes of the Life of a Slav Trader, Who was Pardoned by Two Presidents.

Boston Herald. .The unfortunate bereavement of Captain Appleton Oakes Smith, by the capsizing of a small boat in Beaufort harbor, has brought that strange name onte more before the public. The name, as will be seen above, is Oakes Smith, and not Oaksmith, if the identity of the man is correct, of which there seems little question. His father was Seba Smith, the well-known "Major Jack Downing" of Jackson's time. His mother is noted among Griswold's "American Poets" as reaching considerable fame. She wrote under her own name, Elizal eth Oakes Smith, and it is from her that Captain Appleton Smith takes his middle name. He was born where his parents resided, in Portland, Me., and came first into notoriety in these parts through the courts of law. About nine months of his time in th's city he spent in the care of Sheriff Clark at Charles street jail, where he was confined pending the court's ruling on exceptions to a verdict against him for ceptions to a vertical against him for fitting out a slaver. He was committed Dec. 27, 1861. His expedition was planned at New Bedford. While residing with Sheriff Clark, the sheriff had ample opportunity to know his prisoner, and he describes Smithas a singularly handsome man, tall, straight, with dark hair, and a commanding presence, an ideal buccaneer. He told constantly the wildest stories of the sea, hairly the wildest stories of the sea, hairly the wildest stories of the sea, hair-breadth escapes and adventures. He was thoroughly well educated, wrote considerably for the papers, and studied a good deal during his incar-ceration. While is the jail he was seized, or pretended to be seized, with brain fever, and the wife of the sheriff nursed him during his illness. While here he had an Italian wife, whom he afterward deserted, leaving her heart-broken. He escaped from the jail broken. He escaped from the jail Sept. 11, 1862, how, it is not just known, except that his friends had a hand in it. It is thought by some of the old guardians of the institution that he obtained a key to a door leading into the street during the time repairs were in progress on the boilers. At any rate, he got clear off and went to Florida, and afterward to England, where he was heard from on than one occasion. He engaged in the blockade trade, it is said, and was PUT ON TRIAL FOR SEDITION, being confined at Fort Lafayette, and for which offense he was pardoned by Andrew Johnson. For his equipping a slaver, he was pardoned by Grant in 1872, and a nol. pros. entered upon the books. Since then and prior, according to the dispatch, he has been a resilent of Carteret county, N. C., and has filled many offices of trust.

In regard to his trial, which lasted several days, the gist of it is found in the indictment. In the United States District Court for the district of Massa-chusetts, on the 3d of December, 1861, the grand jury presented a bill of in-dictment against Oaksmith, consisting of ten counts, the first of which, containing the main allegation, is here quoted:

"The jurors of the United States of America, within and for the district aforesaid, upon their oath, present, "That heretofore and after the pass ing of an act of Congress of the United States of America, entitled 'An act in addition to an act to prohibit the introduction of slaves into any port or place within the jurisdiction of the United States, from and after the first day of January in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eight, and to repeal certain parts of the same,' that is to say, after the twentieth day of April in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eighteen, to wit: On the ninth day of September in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-one, one Appleton Oaksmith, late of New York, in the southern district of New York, mer-chant, he, the said Oaksmith, being then and there a citizen of the United States of America, at New Bedford, in the district of Massachusetts, and within the jurisdiction of this court, for himself as owner, did then and there fit, equip, load and otherwise prepare a certain vessel, being a ship called the Margaret Scott, for the purpose of procuring and with intent to procure from a foreign country, to wit: from the continent of Africa, to be transported to a place, to wit: to the island of Cuba, to be held, sold and

OTHERWISE DISPOSED OF AS SLAVES and to be held to service and labor, against the peace and dignity of the said United States, and contrary to the form of the statute in such case made and provided." The other counts recite substantially the allegations contained in the one quoted, with such variations, however, is to cover the whole ground, so that Oaksmith could not escape conviction by any mere technicality. On December 10, 1861, the capias was issued, and on the 28th Oaksmith was ordered to recognize in $5,000 for his appearance at the March term of 1862, at which time the trial was to take place. He did not furnish bail, and was sent to jail. On the 16th of January, 1852, his bail was reduced to $4,000. When the time for trial arrived, how-ever, the district attorney, Richard H. Dana, Jr., requested its continuance to the term following; it was accordingly postponed to the 26th of May, 1862, when Oaksmith was arraigned and pleaded not guilty. On the 9th of June following a jury to try his case was impaneled and sworn. The trial ended on the 14th, when the jury brought in a verdict of guilty on all counts but the third and seventh. Exceptions were at once filed by Oaksmith's counsel, and a motion for a new trial made, which was renewed from time to time, and continued for years, though never heard. On the 28th of June, 1862, he was ordered to find bail, pending the motion for a new trial, but, not furnishing it, was remanded to jail, from whence, as already narrated, he escaped. This was probably the reason why the motion for a new trial was not In the evening edition of the Herald of Thursday, Sept. 11, 1862, there is the following account of the

In a building separate from the jail, but near, and in the north part of the yard, workmen are engaged in putting in new boilers, and the entrance to the boiler room is to be through a door to be constructed in place of one of the kitchen windows, which are all heavily Confederates who were brought in by the reconciliation policy must go. kitchen windows, which are all heavily grated. It had been found necessary to remove the bars from one of them for the purpose above described! Oakmith's cell was located near the head of a flight of stairs leading into the lecture of Prof. Walter Page, who won his spurs here last Normal School.

tom each day, the various cells were unlocked, and a gang of men were engaged in changing the night buckets— a part of the furniture of each cell. Among others, the door of Oaksmith's apartment was unfastened, and while the officer in charge was for a short time absent at another cell, it is sup-posed that Oaksmith slipped quietly out, went down stairs into the kitchen and went out of the window into the yard, annseen by any one in the kitchen, unless it be by some other of the prisoners, all of whom, however, disclaim any knowledge of his exit. Oaksmith was now, for the time being, free, if he could put the wall between himself and the jail. To effect this, he procured one of several ladders lying about and belonging to the workmen, with which he scaled the wall, it is supposed, as a lad-der was afterward discovered leaning against it. Once over, he was in the stone-yard occupied or used by the superintendent of streets, and the stony nature of the ground left no imprint of his footsteps; hence it could not be ascertained in which direction he went. His absence from his cell was not discovered until nearly 10 o'clock—and it covered until nearly 10 o'clock-and it was breakfast time about 6, when he escaped—as he had quietly closed the door behind him, and left no other indication of his absence. An officer in passing accidentally looked into his cell, and thus discovered it to be empty. The alarm was immediately given, and a vigilant search at once instituted, but up to the time of writing it has been fruitless. A large force are engaged in hunting him up, and it is not likely he will long elude their vigilance. Oaksmith was committed on the 21st of December last, and has always been a peaceable prisoner, causing the keepers but little trouble, and this is his first attempt to escape. He was tried and convicted at the last June term of the Circuit Court, but moved for a new trial. The case was to be argued at the coming October court, and he was awaiting the result at the time of his Southern Wool.

Louisville Courier-Journal. At present the number of sheep in the At present the number of sheep in the States of North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Louisana, Arkansas, Tenessee and Mississippi is 2,883,000, or about one sheep to every one hundred acres. If these States engaged in sheep husbandry to the extent and in the proportion which prevails in the single State of Ohio, they would have not less than 40 000 would have not less than 40,000,000 sheep. The area of land adapted for sheep pasturage on the cotton plantations is immense in the aggregate, and can be utilized, while the capital required to purchase sheep is compara-tively small. The wool produced in the Southern climate is of a most excellent quality, as is shown by reports published by the Department of Agriculture at Washington. Mr. Cockerill, for instance, whose flocks are in Mississippi, furnishes the following evidence among a vast amount of the same kind: "I have about 1,000 head of sheep. * * * My Saxon sheep were imported in 1824 or 1826—I can not say which—and I find as yet no falling off in the quantity or quality of their fleeces; on the contrary, I believe a little improvement in both points and a little more yolk when well provided for: which you know does no much abound in the Saxon breed. In addition, the fleeces are a little more compact than formerly, hence more weight, and from our mild climate the staple has become longer. I assert that the cotton region I am now in (Madison county, Mississippi), in about thirty-two degrees north, is better than any country north of it to grow wool, as the sheep can be kept all the time grazing, by sowing small grain; for, if grazed off, if quickly grows again in a few days. And the wool of the fine Saxon sheep in this climate is softer and more cotton-like than any I have ever seen although I have samples from all parts of the world. I have traveled from this very place to Boston, sampling all the sheep of note on the way, and I have found nothing on my journey or at Boston as good as the wool I have grown; and so said all the wool-stapler, whom I met with, and they were not few. I presume, in reality, that the blood of my sheep was no better than many I saw; but the superiority of my wool I ascribe to our climate, and the provision for the sheep of succulent food the year round."

Correspondence of the News. Please allow me space through your columns to give publication of the election of the officers of this beneficial department, on the 3d inst., in accordance with section 2, chapter 41, of the private laws of North Carolina, 1879. The State Grand Chief, Mr. J. B. Ab bott, convened a lawful number of grand officers at the office of the Grand Secretary, and adopted suitable rules and by-laws to govern the said Institution, and elected the following officers,

Rev. George H. Hunter, of Greensboro, N. C., President.
J. B. Abbott, Esq., of New Berne, Vice-President. B. B. Goins, Esq., of Raleigh, Department Secretary.

Rev. F. R. Howell, of Raleigh, Treasary, Fred. Douglass, of New Berne. Third Assistant Department Secretary, A. G. Nelson, of Greensboro, N. C.

Fourth Assistant Department Sec etary, L. S. Hurdle. of Charlotte, N. C. They also appointed several commit-tees who together with the officers will egin work for the Department as soon as they can get their charter and by-laws printed in pamphlet form. This department if carried out will do great good among the colored people in this State; especially among the colored children. The eleventh section of the act provides for the assignment of the children to some institution of learning: in fact the Department and the by-laws are wisely gotten up; it is one of the best steps ever taken by the colored people of this State. We wish them every success and hope that every colored person of moral standing will connect hemselves with this institution and assist in the good work of building school houses and in educating the children of their race.

Some Political Pickings-A Boy with a Tail---Suicides and Murders.

WASHINGTON, July 9.-The war amongst the Republicans of North Carolina continues to rage with unabated vigor. It seems, however, that the cry raised by the native Republicans against the present officials on the acore of carpet-baggism is not based on yery substantial foundation, as it is asserted that out of the eight hundred or more Federal officials in the State there are not more than tifty born outside of North Carolina, and it is alleged, further, that there are not more than four holding prominent places. A few days since Secretary Sherman wrote a letter to Mr. Powers, the collector of internal revenue at New Berne, asking for his resignation. It is understood at the department that Mr. Powers has replied, declining to resign, and asking the cause of his removal. The friends of Mr. Powers claim that his office is one of the best administered in the United States, and that there is no cause whatever for the demand made by the Secretary for his resignation except that he is not for Mr. Sherman for President, and that he is not a native, although he is said to have been a resident of New Berne for seventeen years. If, despite his refusal to resign, Mr. Powers is removed, it is anticipated that there will be lively times next winter when the name of his successor is sent to the Senate. The Senate will probably be somewhat backward in confirming an important nomination made for no other purpose than to advance Mr. United States, and that there is no cause other purpose than to advance Mr. Sherman's aspirations for the presidency. Secretary Sherman, it must not be forgotten, has within a very short period admitted to his friends that he intends to stand for the Republican nomination for President.

THE OHIO GREENBACKERS The State Central committee of the National Greenback labor party met in the parlors of the United States hotel at Columbus to-day. The following resolutions, offered by Mr. J. St. G. Clarkson, of Dayton, were adopted: Resolved, That we invite all who can approve of our platform and support our ticket to join with us in the fight against the money power as represented and up-held by the Republican and Democratic parties. Resolved, That the men who called the Toledo convention, who led and organized it, and now uphold the action of that so-called convention, are wolves in sheeps' clothing, and unworthy of the confidence and support of honest men. Resolved, That such of the members of the State central committee as are adherents of the so-called lters are no longer me committee, and their places are hereby declared vacant. The following resolution, offered by Mr. Christopher Lewis, was unanimously adopted: Resolved by the members of the State central committee of the National Greenback labor party of Ohio, that we have the fullest confidence in the ability and integrity of our candidates nominated at Columbus. June 4th, and we pledge ourselves to do all in our power, and call upon all true Nationals throughout the State to put forth every effort, and labor for the election of the whole tick-

POLITICAL PLOTTING.

The two nominees for governor of Ohio, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and two ex-governors are among the list of names registered at the leading hotels in New York. Today Speaker Randall, with ex-Governor Andrew G. Curtin, both of Pennsylvania, visited ex-Governor Tilden, at Yonkers. During the day Charles Foster, of Ohio, Republican nominee for governor, was on Wall street. Senator Matt. Carpenter said he was in New York merely on business. Senator Thomas F. Bayard, of Delaware, is making arrangements for a trip to Eu-rope. General Tom Ewing, Demo-eratic candidate for governor of Ohio, was accosted while walking down Broadway, and said he: "I am confi-dent, and more than confident, that the Democratic party will win in Ohio. The toiling masses, who comprise nine-tenths of the voting population, are not in favor of electing any candidate who is a friend and advocate of the National bank system." TOBACCO IN THE MAILS.

The Postoffice Department has decided that packages of tobacco bearing the internal revenue stamp can liereafter go through the mails as fourth-class matter, regardless of the fact that they are not open to inspection, the government stamp being assumed to guarantee that they contain no written correspondence.

A SCOUNDREL HANGED TO A TREE. Mort. Lee, the negro, who, June 30th, outraged and nearly killed Mrs. Settle, at Kanawha Falls, West Virginia, was taken from the officers and hanged by a mob of fifty citizens.

ONE OF DARWIN'S BOYS. A boy with a tail five inches long has been described extensively by papers in Cincinnati, and the boy is supposed to be an orphan. Descriptions of the boy attracted the attention of his father in Chicago, who recognized him and took him away. The father of the boy gives the name of W. H. Rhen, and says he is a picture-frame manufactur-er, at No. 49 W. Van Buren street, Chicago. The mother died in a Cincinnati hospital some time ago.

THAT WONDERFUL FALL. Little Henry Shire, aged nine, who fell from a six-story roof, a distance of eighty feet, Monday evening, is doing well. No bones were broken.

Sherman's Southern Friends New York Sun.

In Southern States, where the Republicans cast a light vote, the leaders of the party are the officeholders. The postmasters, the revenue officers, and the port collectors manipulate the primaries and the county and State conventions. Once in four years they send themselves as delegates to the National Convention and get a finger in the Pres-iden-tmaking there, and it is possible for a few of them to hold the balance o power and name the candidate. To use a homely phrase, these men know on which side their bread is buttered. If they have been appointed to office by John Sherman, it isn't to be supposed that they will vote in convention for Blaine or for Conkling, at least not un-til the fight for Sherman has been given up. John Sherman, appreciating this fact, has been quietly reorganizing the civil service in the United States The Times recordly printed an article showing where postmasters who are for Grant have been removed, and postmasters who are for Sherman have been put in their places. In addition to this comes the information that Sherman is about to reorganize the South Carolina offices. This means that South Carolina on is to send a Sherman delegation to the convention that nominates for President.

$27,000,000 of public money, the greater part of which was wasted or stolen. It shows that interest on United States bonds has been fraudulently collected for years by an outside Ring operating in collusion with Treasury employees.

It shows that the thieves were protected and shielded by Treasurer Wyman and other high officials. Every rascal whose crimes forced him out of office received a more lucrative berth abroad.

It directly implicates John Sherman, who not only perpetuated the corruption he found before him, but multiplied it for the purpose of rewarding partisan services.

It demonstates that the Federal Secret Service Bureau is a sink of rottenness and blackmail, in which no honest man can attempt to perform his duty without incurring the penalty of certain dismissal.

It incidentally examines the Southern cotton seizures, and details how Hon. William E. Chandler, having secured a full list of these cotton claims, was enabled to resign his position of Assistant Secretary of the Treasury and step at once into a "law practice" worth $100,000.

But its most startling disclosures refer to the Mints and to the Bureau of Engraving and Printing.

On the whole, a more scandalous exhibit of jobbery and robbery has never been presented. The charges are almost too startling for credence, but they are none the less true.

It is no journalistic sensation. It is the fruition of patient and exhaustive work by Congressman Glover, of Missouri, in the 45th Congress, by authority of the House of Representatives. Every effort to have the report printed during the recent extra session was defeated by the Republicans under the leadership of Conger.

MR. GLENN'S SPEECH.

The fourth of July speech made by Mr. Glenn at Winston was patriotic and manly. It was more: it was statesmanlike. At the same hour the same patriotic sentiments were being uttered and the same patriotic spirit was alive in far away Massachusetts. What Mr. Glenn so eloquently said was echoed in Boston and Springfield:

"Our government is but the organ of the people, our flag is but a symbol of the collective people-it is the people themselves, the men and women of Massachusetts and Virginia and the Carolinas and California and every other of the thirty-eight States that are the Nation. It is regard for the common interest above the personal or sectional interest; it is mutual good will; it is patience with each other's faults and sympathy with each other's virtues that alone can knit this people in a great national life; we have fought; but from that fight shall we preserve only the bitterness? Shall we not rather treasure the new sense it brought of each other's manhood, the sense of unstinted devotion to an idea, of courage and fortitude and manly acceptance of defeat, which shone in Northerner and in Boutherner, brighter than all the lurid horrors of war? Are we in the future to be held apart or bound together by the memory of our heroes?

"Our heroes-not of the North, not of the South, but of the American people. Lee and Stonewall Jackson and Albert Sidney Johnston-they belong to us. Grant and Sherman and Sheridan and Thomas—they belong to us. Of the Southern and Northern people alike, the valor, the discipline, the fidelity to right as it was given to each to see the right, these we claim for the common American inheritance. To-day when this is said the partisan may resent and the politician sneer, but long before another century has passed it will be an accepted and familiar fact. Where is nationality stronger than in England, whose people yet clashed in a long course of civil wars? Those wars are not forgotten; their results are not ignored, but the virtues of both sides alike have passed into that rich legacy of national memories which is the inspiration of English greatness. Hampden rode into battle and died for the Parliament, Falkland rode into battle and died for the King, and to Englishmen to-day both names alike are dear. The bones of the great Protector were dug up and gibbeted, but what Englishman in our time is not proud of Cromwell? Thank God, no gibbet for dead or living leader's mars the sad, heroic story of our civil war. It is the spirit of freedom, of charity, of selfcontrol, in which we should newly consecrate ourselves to the work which America has before her."

These are noble sentiments but, like the Charleston News and Courier, in choosing generals whose names should adorn a National pantheon we would select the McClellans, the Meades, the Hancoeks and the Thomases, and never the Shermans and the Sheridans. There is no aversion to any Federal officer, because of his rank or victories. The officers whom the South abhors are those, and only those, who allowed quiet homes to be wantonly pillaged and burned, and helpless women to be insulted and maltreated.

THE COTTON INTEREST.

The magnitude of the cotton interest was shown at a recent meeting of the Mississippi Valley Cotton Planters' Association-an organization of farmers by the way that seems to have discovered a practical method of promoting their own interests and protecting themselves against greedy brokers and railroad monopolies-in the following estimates of cost and profit of the crop:

"A crop of 5,000,000 bales, averaging three acres to produce a bale, would give us 15,000,000 acres at eight dollars per acre, $120,000,000. "One mule or horse to twenty-five acres, 800,000 mules, at ninety dollars, $72,000,000.

"Implements, harness, etc., and machinery, $50,000,000. "Showing permanent investment of $242,000,000.

"Averaging three bales per hand, would require 1,666,666 laborers, to feed and clothe which for a year with their dependents would average fifty dollars each, $82,666,667. "To feed team at forty dollars per mule, 800,000 mules, $32,000,000. "Cost of bagging and ties at one dollar and forty cents per bale, $7,000,-"Cost of marketing crop at one and a fourth cents per pound would give

"Working capital, $146,777,777. "Average price expected for present crop eleven cents for 2,000,000,000, $220,-

"Recapitulation:-Now we havepermanent investment of planters, $242,000,000. "Working capital, $149,777,777. "Total capital invested exclusively in cotton cultivation, this estimate being made for the share system, and not for wages, $388,777,777.

"Amount received for total crop, $220,000,000; which is divided equally between the planter and laborer; planters therefore receive $110,000,000-from which deduct feed for team chargeable to planter, $32,000.000; half cost bagging and the chargeable to planter, $3,500,. 000; half marketing crop, chargeable to planter, $12,500,000; twenty per cent. in loss and decreased value stock, $14,406,-000; twenty per cent. in loss and decreased implements and machinery, $10,000,000. Total, $72,400,000.

"Repairing fences, houses, etc., at ten per cent. on permanent investment, $12,000,000. Taxes on permanent investment three per cent., $7,260,000. "Deduct these amounts from planters' share of crop, $110,000,000, which shows planters' profit on total investment for cotton alone is about four and one-quarter per cent., provided we get eleven cents for cotton, make 5,000,000 bales, and the laborer pays his accounts

"Laborers' share of crop, $110,000, 000. "Amount chargeable for food and clothes, $82,666,667. "Showing a profit for the laborer of "It will thus be observed that the laborer receives $27,000,000 on investment on nothing but his muscle, while the planter receives $10,000,000 on an investment of $388,000 and his services "Now, we will omit the details of the number of slices that are plucked by the wayside, and suppose our crop has reached the factory, simply saying that about $25,000,000 more has been added thereby to the price to be paid by the manufacturer since it landed at the seaport from the planter. Our 5,000,000 bales now begin to loom up and assume some importance, for they run 12,500,000 spindles, which require nearly $1,000,000,000 in buildings, ma chinery and working capital, and employ nearly 800,000 operative and em plovees. The manufactured goods are sent to every part of the known world, creating a trade, reciprocal business that can hardly be estimated, but without doing which, as can easily be seen, it will reach into the billions."

With reference to manufacturing cotton in the South, it was shown that if the cotton raised there was manufactured in the Southern States the planters would be saved more than $50,000,000 every year in transportation. There is a difference of fifteen or twenty per cent. in favor of manufacturing cotton in that section over New England, and the ma ufacturers now in business all report an entire freedom from strikes and other labor complications which affect the New En gland manufacturers so disastrously There is certainly no reason why the South should not look forward to the time when manufacturing capital will largely seek employment in the cotton States, where the raw material can be had at the doors of the factories. The cotton mills which have been started in the South have been yery success ful, and the number is increasing every

THE INVENTION OF THE AGE. Talbott's new Patent Spark Arrester is really the only perfect and reliable one, and is superseding all others in use. The great efficiency of this Arrester is attracting universal attention, and is being endorsed by the best mechanical engineers and insurance companies. Its prominent features are: It does not destroy the draft.

It does not interfere with cleaning It will not choke up, and requires no cleaning.

It requires no direct dampers to be opened when raising steam (dampers being objectionable, as they may be left open and allow sparks to escape.) It requires no water to extinguish sparks, which, by condensation, destroys the draft. Besides, when water is used, if neglected, the efficiency is destroyed by evaporation of the water, and the boiler is kept in a filthy con-

It is simple and durable, and can be relied upon. It can be attached to any boiler. No planter should be without one of them. Insurance companies will insure gins and barns where the Talbott Engines and Spark Arresters are used at same rate as charged for water or

She wandered to the woodland pool, By wild flow'rs all begirt; She saw her beauty in its depth, And smiled-the pretty flirt! And there the curate told his love, Tho' hope was almost dead; But though she sighed, She nought replied, She only shook her head!

She lingered by the broad park gate, The old lord lingered, too He sought the maiden for his bride And knew, too, how to woo. And though he feigned love's sad despair, Her answer he could guess; But could not spy Her triumph high! She smiled, and whispered, "Yes!"

The State Fair.

Captain Denson, the energetic Secretary of the State Fair Association dropped in on the NEWS yesterday. He was just from Durham, whithen he had been in the interest of the Fair. The enterprising tobacco men of that wideawake town are reported as aroused on the subject and will contribute liberally to its success. Captain Denson hopes to perfect arrangements for the exhibition of the process of manufacturing tobacco. This will prove a novel and most attractive exhibition. The general outlook for the Fair is reported very encouraging.

Room for All. Colonel Polk, Commissioner of Agriculture, has received a letter from a prominent citizen of Burlington, Vt., stating that a movement is on foot in that locality to organize a colony of five hundred to one thousand families for settlement in a more genial climate than Vermont has afforded. He therefore, as one of the originators of the movement, wants a statement of the inducements that are or can be offered for a settlement in the State, and inquires especially as to railroad rates. Western North Carolina seems to be the objec-tive point hinted at in the gentleman's letter, and it would be well when a committee comes to investigate that it be treated with perfect fairness.

The Weekly News.

The Weekly News to-day contains the Glover report, which is just now a theme of earnest discussion throughout the country. Its other contents embraces the latest home and foreign news; a graphic description of the mastodon recently unearthed in the State of New York; and miscellaneous reading of a varied and highly interesting character. The Weekly News is $1.00 per year. It goes into every section of the State and is an invaluable advertising medium to the merchant and business man. A reliable, active egent in each county is wanted. For terms, address The Raleigh News, Raleigh, N. C.

Three Thousand Copies Sold.

Alfred Williams & Co. Raleigh, have just received another supply of the very popular Sunday School singing book "Songs of Gratitude." N. C. Agricultural Society. The Executive Committee of the N. C. Agricultural Society held their regular meeting at the Yarborough House last night, A. Creech, Esq., Chairman, and C. B. Denson, Secretary. It was well attended, and of much interest. Reports were made from committees, and the Secretary presented a list of donations for the next Fair, among which were some valuable gifts from manufacturers of tobacco in the thriving town of Durham. These will be acknowledged in full hereafter.

The subject of cheap transportation for the people to the State Fair was discussed, and on motion of Dr. McKee, the following special committee was appointed to confer with the railroad authorities: Colonel Thomas M. Holt. Dr. G. W. Blacknall, Dr. Eugene Gris-Colonel A. B. Andrews, Colonel som, Colonel A. B. John D. Whitford.

Applications for assignment of space at the Fair having been made, on mo-tion of R. H. Battle, Jr., the subject was referred, with full powers, to the Committee on Grounds. On motion the secretary was authorized to invite special efforts in behalf of the Fair from the ladies of the State. Some interesting and novel features of the approaching Fair were considered, the particulars of which will shortly be laid before the public.

Not a Dead Cause.

London, July 10 .- A dispatch to the Times from Paris says that Prince Jerome Bonaparte has already virtually assumed the attitude of chief of the Imperialists. It was represented to him that committees were working in every department and canton of France. That subsidized newspapers were advocating the cause of the Bonapartists. and that the faults of the present government were being skillfully and vigorously turned to account, when the death of the Prince Imperial came to check the great and well managed organization when it was just on the point of bearing fruit. Prince Jerome, who was only anxious at first to avoid being exiled, has become so strongly assured that his hour will soon come, that he is prepared even now to go into

The Zulu War.

London, July 10.—A dispatch from Rourke's Drift, under date of June 24. says. The decision of the court martial in the case of Lieutenant Carey, who commanded the expedition in which the Prince Imperial lost his life, has been sent to England for confirmation. Prior to the publication Lieutenant Carey will go home at the first opportunity. In consequence of the defective state of transportation service, General Wolseley summoned a meeting of the native chiefs at Maritzburg on the 30th of June to devise measures for transportation by native carriers.

No Money to be Paid Out of the I reasury for Federal Marshals. The other day the National Republican contained a double-leaded "official" announcement that the Administration proposed to provide for the Marshals fees through a strained construction of a certain law. This publication was imposed upon two or three credulous correspondents. Yesterday First Comptroller Porter issued the following cir-TO UNITED STATES MARSHALS.

The appropriations made for defraying expenses of courts during the fia-cal year ending June 30, 1879, have proved to be inadequate, and are now exhausted. Application was made to Congress, before the close of the recent session, for an additional appropriation, but without avail.

In consequence of the deficiency, your unsettled account, now in this office, cannot be paid at present. It is confidently expected that the amount needed for the payment of all accounts for expenses of courts will be appropriated at the next regular session of Congress, which will begin in December. And as soon as means are provided the sum due to Accounts for fees earned after the 30th ultimo will be promptly settled when rendered.

A. G. PORTER. First Comptroller Treasury, In addition to, and in explanation of this circular, Mr. Porter yesterday said there was but one course for the Administration to pursue; that the situation was too plain to admit of but one opinion as to what ought to be done; that as marshals' fees were not provided for by Congress, the marshals must manage to get along as best they can with their business. 'Such a thing as finding a way to provide the funds necessary by putting a strained con-struction upon any law has never been thought of," said Mr. Porter.

Profitable Stock Investments. Before Messrs. Lawrence & Co., the New York bankers, inaugurated the combination system of operating in stocks, it was often very difficult for inexperienced operators, or even old stagers, to deal profitably be their single handed ventures. Now the field is open to every one for successful operations, and capital in any amounts, from $10 to $20,000, can be used with equal proportionate profit. Instead of distracting efforts among many customers the orders of thousands are concentrated into one vast pool and co-opera-ted for the benefit of all, dividing profits pro rata every month. A prominent citizen of San Francisco made $1,264.83 from an investment of $300 last Other customers are doing better still. $25 pays $125 during the month, $200 returns $1,200, or 6 per cent. on the stock, and so on as the market moves. New circular contains "two unerring rules for success," and full instructions for any one to operate profitably. All the advantages of un-limited capital and eareful manipulation are secured by the combination method. Stocks and bonds wanted. Government bonds supplied. Deposits received. WADDILL, Esq., LYNCHBURG, VA.-Dear Sir: Observaing a certificate from you in reference to the "Iron and Alum Mass," of the Seven Springs, in Washington county, Va., in relation to its efficacy for Liver Diseases, would you have the kindness to inform me whether you used the "Mass" or the "Water;" also, a description of the symptoms and such other information as you may deem pertinent. I am a long-time sufferen with Liver Complaint, and naturally feel very anxious on the subject of a remedy that will afford me even tem-porary relief. Your early reply will greatly oblige, very respectfully,

WILLIAM BARR. LYNCHBURG, Va., May 12, 1879.—WM. BARR, Esq., Bovine, Mississippi—Dear Sir: Your inquiry in regard to the 'Liver case" which was effectually cured in my family from using the "Seven Springs Mass," is before me, The case referred to in my certificate was that of my wife's sister, who is now in her 80th year, and has been a member of my family for the last 27 years. She had been afflicted with Liver Disease for 30 years, sometimes almost dying with pains in the back, breast, and heaviness of the chest, heart-burns (intensely), sick stomach, vomiting, &c. I procured a few bottles of the "Mass" for her, and very soon after she began the use of it, her health commenced to get better, and she con-tinued steadily to improve, and at this writing, so old, seemingly in as good health as a person who had never been afflicted with these diseases. She attributes her cure entirely to the efficacy of the "Seven Springs Mass." I regard it one of the greatest family medicines we have access to, not only for such diseases as above indicated, but for va-rious other complaints for which it is recommended. Hoping these answers satisfactory, I am, very truly, A. WAD-DILL, Proprietor Lynchburg News. For sale by Wm. Simpson, Pescud, Lee & Co., and F. H. Heartt, Raleigh, N. C., and Druggists generally.
